Executive Insights

Tuesday, October 13, 2020

Livestream: 8:00 - 9:15 a.m.

In today's environment, organizations are faced with many new challenges, including finding better ways to manage cash flow, reduce costs, and protect against new risks. MRA is pleased to offer this Executive Insights to better equip business leaders to tackle these challenges.

Hear from the executives and get the insights:

Managing Working Capital to Improve Liquidity During the COVID Crisis

Presented by Marcos Vega, Sr. Treasury Consultant, BMO Harris Bank

In today's COVID-19 environment, it is more important than ever to manage working capital to improve liquidity. This presentation will focus on managing your payables and receivables, share analytical tools that quantify the impact from improving these components on your cash position, and provide strategies to materialize these benefits on your balance sheet.

Group Health Captives as an Alternative to Reduce Health Care Costs and Uncertainty

Presented by Jason Nordby, Partner and Director of Employee Benefits Captive Practice, M3 Insurance

With the prospect of medical insurance premiums likely to rise, employers need to consider alternative funding models to control costs and access data to drive strategic decisions. Jason will provide insight into why group health captives may be a good alternative, how they can provide cost savings and greater stability for medical insurance, and the process for evaluating this model.

Cyberattacks During COVID-19 and How to Avoid Them—Tales From the Trenches

Presented by Nathan Little, Partner and VP of Digital Forensics and Incident Response, Tetra Defense

Cyberattacks and data breaches continue to debilitate businesses large and small. In this presentation, you will learn the latest attacks Tetra Defense is seeing amidst COVID-19, including ransom-ware, wire transfer fraud, business email compromise, data thefts and more, and safeguards to avoid them in the first place.
